

CONGRESS NOW HAS THE FACTS

Abuses Of The Standard Oil Company Are Discussed In Roosevelt's Message.

IS BASED ON GARFIELD'S REPORT

Result Of Careful Investigation Of The Field In Which The Great "Trust" Is Active Reveals Many Facts.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, May 4.—President Roosevelt today transmitted to congress the report of James R. Garfield, commissioner of corporations, giving the results of his investigation of the subject of transportation and freight rates in connection with the oil industry.

In his message the President expresses the view that the report is of capital importance because of the effort now being made to secure such enlargement of the powers of the Interstate Commerce commission as will confer upon the commission power in some measure adequate to meet the clearly demonstrated needs of the situation. The facts set forth in the report, he declares, are for the most part not disputed. That the Standard Oil company has benefited enormously up almost to the present moment by secret rates, many of which were clearly unlawful, the President says the report clearly shows. The benefit thereby secured amounting to at least three-quarters of a million a year. On this subject he says:

"This three-quarters of a million represents the profit that the Standard Oil company obtains at the expense of the railroads. But of course the ultimate result is that it obtains a much larger profit at the expense of the public. A very striking result of the investigation has been that shortly after the discovery of these secret rates by the commissioner of corporations, the major portion of them were promptly corrected by the railroads, so that most of them have now been done away with. This immediate correction, partial or complete, of the evil of the secret rates, is of course on the one hand an acknowledgment that they were wrong and yet were persevered in until exposed; and on the other hand a proof of the efficiency of the work that has been done by the bureau of corporations."

The statement is added that the department of justice will take up the question of instituting prosecutions in at least certain of the cases, and the hope is expressed that congress will enact into law the bill of Senator Knox to correct the interpretation of the immunity provision re-dered.

"But in addition to these secret rates the Standard Oil profits immensely by open rates, which are so arranged as to give it an overwhelming advantage over its independent competitors. This is a characteristic example of the numerous evils which are inevitable under a system in which the big shipper and the railroad are left free to crush out all individual initiative and all power of independent action because of the absence of adequate and thorough-going governmental control. Exactly similar conditions obtain in a large part of the west and southwest."

It is not possible, he says, to put into figures the exact amount by which the Standard profits through the gross favoritism shown it by the railroads in connection with the open rates. "The profit of course comes not merely by the saving in the rate itself as compared with its competitors, but by the higher prices it is able to charge and by the complete control of the market which it secures, thereby getting the profit on the whole consumption."

The President calls attention to that feature of the report regarding the manner in which the law is evaded by treating as interstate commerce what is merely a part of interstate commerce. He says it is clearly shown "that this device is employed on the New York Central railroad, as well as on many other railroads, in such fashion as to amount to thwarting the purpose of the law, although the forms of the law may be complied with."

It is unfortunately not true, he says, that the Standard Oil company is the only corporation which has benefited and is benefiting in wholly improper fashion by an elaborate series of rate discriminations. The secret trust, he adds, according to the results of the investigation now in progress, rarely if ever pays the lawful rate for transportation. He declares that in the effort to prevent the railroads from uniting for improper purposes "we have very unwisely prohibited them from uniting for proper purposes; that is, for purposes of protecting themselves and

IRL HICKS MAKES A DOUBTFUL GUESS

St. Louis Weather Prophet Has Made His Resume for the Month of May.

Rev. Irl Hicks, the long distance weather prophet, has now laid down the weather for the month of May. If the weather does not follow his orders it is not his fault. He predicts as follows:

A very warm wave for the season, sustained until after storms of rain, wind and thunder about the 4th and 5th, will pass from west to east at this time. Change to rising barometer and cooler behind these storms will be of short duration.

A regular storm period, central on the 6th, covers the 7th to 12th. Rapid change to high barometers, westerly gales and much cooler will follow this series of storms, and frosts will visit many central to northern sections from the 10th and 14th.

A reactionary storm period, is central on the 14th, 15th and 16th, the Mars and Mercury disturbances, blending with this annual tendency, makes it entirely possible and probable that violent to dangerous storms may appear about the 14th, 15th and 16th.

A regular storm period runs from the 16th to the 23rd. This promises to be the most active to violent period in May. All through the central part of May there is great tendency at the storm periods to daily cycles of storms for a number of days in succession, breaking up as a rule with a general, and very violent storm. This period, the 19th to the 23rd, promises to bring one of these cycles.

Another reactionary storm period is central on the 26th, 27th and 28th. A decided change to cooler will spread over the country generally at the wind up of these storms. The last day of May is the beginning of a regular storm period which will express itself during the opening days of June.

LEWIS KNITTING CO'S FRISCO AGENT TELLS

About Being Mistaken for a Looter and Threatened by Guard in Getting Trunks Away.

H. Harris, in charge of the Lewis Knitting Co.'s San Francisco office, has written to the firm to inform them that one trunk of samples was lost in the fire which followed the earthquake. The office was in the sixth story of a building on Market street. Immediately after the quake Mr. Harris hurried downtown and had, unaided, gotten his three heavy trunks down the six flights of stairs when a military guard, mistaking him for a looter, presented a bayonet to his breast and ordered him to desist from further efforts to get away with the property. Luckily Mr. Harris was recognized by another guard and permitted to proceed. He offered one man $50 to help carry the trunks a distance of five or six blocks but was refused. Finally, however, he secured the services of a small boy for $5 and got two of the trunks to a place of safety. The third one had to be left behind and was pushed back into the building, which afterwards burned. Mr. Harris' home was uninjured, but he was forced to leave it by the guards who wanted to use it for a hospital and for several days he lived and cooked his meals in the streets. The letter was sent from Oakland and was accompanied by a rush order for goods, the writer stating that business was picking up at a surprising rate.

Fox Lake has sent $205.25 to San Francisco relief fund, through the efforts of the Fox Lake Representative and Mayor Cochran. It was all a free offering, no canvassing being done.

THERE HANGS LOVE STORY

She Met Husband-to-be While Living in Paris and When He Was Secretary to Ambassador Bismarck.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Washington, D. C., May 4.—Official and social circles in the national capital are considerably interested in the appointment of Baron Herman von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg to succeed Baron von Bussche-Haddenhausen as first secretary of the German embassy here. Baron Hatzfeldt will doubtless find the Washington post agreeable as he has a strong strain of American blood in his veins, his mother having been a Miss Helen Moulton, of Albany, N. Y.The nobility of Europe, though it has furnished stories of love, romance and intrigue stranger than are to be found in the pages of fiction, seldom has furnished a stranger love romance than that in which the parents of Baron Hatzfeldt figured as principals.Divorced for state reasons, remarried for love, and in her old age, the object of a unique sacrifice, the mother of the new secretary of the German embassy experienced at once more suffering and more honor than falls to the lot of most American wives of titled husbands.Baron Hatzfeldt, is the only son of the late Count Paul Hatzfeldt, who was for many years German Ambassador in England. His mother, was Helen Moulton, daughter of Colonel Moulton of Albany, N. Y. Her mother, Mrs. Moulton, was the daughter of an old French dancing-master, who in the early part of the nineteenth century was professor of the terpsichorean art to the fashionable of New York. His name was Metz and his daughter's Christian name, Cesarine. She was celebrated in New York for her beauty and fascination.When the daughter, Helen, was about ten years old the family went to Paris, and there made its home.
Charles Moulton, the father, became associated with Baron Haussmann, who built the boulevards and transfigured Paris, and was swept high on the tide of sudden wealth. The family were thrown into the most exalted society of the empire. The son married a Boston girl, Miss Lillie Grenough, who enhanced the distinction of the family with her vocal and other accomplishments. Charles Moulton, her husband, was killed in a railroad accident at Philadelphia some years ago, and she afterward married Baron von Hageman, the Danish minister at Washington.Miss Helen Moulton meanwhile was earning social triumphs of her own.At court she first met Count Hatz-feldt, secretary to Prince Otto von Bismarck, then the Prussian Ambassador in Paris. Count Hatzfeldt was nearly 20 years Miss Moulton's senior, but he was under forty and age had dealt lightly with him. He was the son of the Countess Sophie von Hatz-feldt, who was the friend and patroness of Ferdinand Lassalle, the Jewish philosopher and social democrat.Miss Moulton returned the affection which Count Hatzfeldt made known to her, and they were married, with every circumstance of grandeur. As the representative of Germany at Madrid, Constantinople and other capitals Count Hatzfeldt acquitted himself brilliantly and his rise in the diplomatic service was rapid.But a change was soon to come.
Bismarck desired his protégé, Hatz-feldt, to become foreign secretary and remain in Berlin. In this position Hatzfeldt would be a personage of consequence at court, and it was necessary that he should be acceptable to royalty. It was necessary also that his wife should be acceptable. But Countess Hatzfeldt's mother had been an actress in America, and the views of the Empress Augusta regarding such matters prohibited her being received at court. Bismarck told Count Hatzfeldt that the situation demanded that he should divorce the countess.
The countess herself urged her husband to comply with Bismarck's demands, and they were divorced, but remained ever constant and warm friends. The countess accepted the situation in a philosophical spirit, and devoted herself to the education of her children. Bismarck tried to induce the Count to marry the daughter of a Berlin banker, who had supplied the money to pay his debt, but the Count would not.Hatzfeldt's excellent work in the foreign office paved the way for his later honors and his career was crowned with his appointment as Ambassador to Great Britain. When Bismarck or William broke the power of Bismarck and dispensed with the counsels of that great statesman, Count Hatzfeldt hastened to repair the injustice which, at the bidding of the man of blood and iron, he had inflicted on his wife. They were remarried in the presence of a distinguished company, including the Dowager Empress Frederick and two of her daughters.Their son, Baron Herman von Hatzfeldt, is now 39 years old and has started well on his diplomatic career. At one time it was reported that he had decided to abandon the Kaiser's diplomatic service to enter the employ of one of the leading banks of London, but he evidently reconsidered the matter and decided to continue in the footsteps of his distinguished father.

IN CENTRAL HALLMrs. W. T. Sherer and Mrs. Charles

Three Hundred Ladies.One of the prettiest and most unique affairs among the major societé events of the season occurred last evening when the Mesdames W.
T. Sherer and Charles Tarrant entertained at a "poudre partie." It was in the manner of a tea and card party and was given in Central hall.
Three hundred invitations had been issued and those who sent regrets were few. Among those present was a large number from out of the city.The hostesses received at six-thirty o'clock and they and their guests were attired according to the nature of the affair—in evening gowns and with hair powdered. The south portion of the hall where the reception was held was handsomely furnished and decorated. The floor was hidden under a profusion of exquisite oriental rugs, while the chairs and sofas were lavishly strewn with beautiful pillows. Everywhere potted plants and red carnations and roses were used to advantage.Tea was served at numerous small tables. At these the suggestion of colonial style found in the dress of the guests and hostesses was carried out in the decorations. A colonial glass candlestick stood in the center of each table and from these the mellow light of the candle, unmarred by any brilliancy from the myriad of electric globes above, was cast upon the company as the refreshments were enjoyed. The scene was exceedingly pretty and entrancing. Fifteen young ladies, each with powdered coiffure, using a black palm or two on her face and wearing a summer gown, served.During the reception and tea the Knoff & Hatch orchestra played. The musicians were almost hidden behind costly oriental hangings, which had been tastefully arranged on the stand where they were seated.After the tea six-handed progressive euchre was played. To those making the two highest scores handsome prizes were awarded. The first prize, which fell to Miss Harriet S. Saenger, was a beautiful cut glass dish and the second which was won by Miss Mae Valentine was a brass candle stick of colonial design.Among the guests from out of the city were Mrs. Hardee of Florida, Mrs. Ever of Chicago, Mrs. Rowe of Rock county factory successfully launched into the sugar industry."A representative of this journal met Mr. Hapke recently while on his way from Madison to Chicago. The work on the Madison plant is being rushed to completion. The United States Sugar Company are receiving contracts from Dane county in large number. The farmers of Dane county while not old experienced growers, have shown a very splendid interest in this new crop. They have grown beets for the past two seasons and know that the crop is a profitable one. They have contracted up to the present time for over 4,000 acres and the company expects at least 1,000 acres more. When the returns from the several agents soliciting acreage is sent in:"The construction work at the factory is fast approaching completion, the buildings are about completed, and the work of placing the machinery is going on with dispatch."Mr. Hapke is giving this plant his personal attention, and he expects to become a permanent resident of Madison, having purchased a fine farm on Lake Monona from which a splendid view of the Capital City can always be had. He will improve this tract and as he remarked to the writer, 'I enjoy outdoor life and expect to remain in Wisconsin where I find that the growers of sugar beets are among the most practical in the country.'"The great secret of this pioneer beet sugar man lies in the fact that his is a most strenuous life, full of activity, a thorough faith in practicality of the industry and the ability to meet conditions as they find them.

Furthermore he knows how to use the grower and invariably gains their confidence through a square deal to the producer."

SEA GIRT RANGENATIONAL MEETING ON NEW JER-SEY OWNED FIELD.

PLANS BEING PERFECTED

Government Range at Fort Riley, Kansas, Not As Well Equipped As It Should Be.

(By William Wolf Smith.)

Washington, D. C.—Plans are now being perfected for holding the next grand national rifle match at Sea Girt, New Jersey. Although the national government has a range at Fort Riley, Kansas, the only one that the general government at present owns and controls which is worthy the designations of a national range, the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice decided to hold the next match at the last, at beautiful Sea Girt, pending the improvements at Fort Riley. This range is the mecca of American marksmen and promises to be to America what famous Bisley is to England. Its location could scarcely be surpassed. A mile of closely cropped green sward half a mile in width, descends in a slope so gentle as to be undistinguishable to the naked eye, up to the edge of the ocean where are the butts. Itself swept by ocean breezes, Sea Girt is adjacent to Asbury Park, Belmar, Elberon, and Long Branch, with which it is connected by trolley. Trains passing every few moments land one in New York in the course of two hours and at a reasonable fare. With all these natural advantages in its favor, the range at Sea Girt has been a pet project with New Jersey for years and several hundred thousand dollars has been expended by the state in acquiring the property and equipping it. Everything about the range is permanent except the accommodations for the marksmen which are quartered in tents supplied gratis by the New Jersey National Guard.
A beautiful clubhouse with broad piazzas, dining rooms, stower baths and a ballroom is thrown open during the meeting to the marksmen and their guests. General Bird W. Spencer, commanding officer of the New Jersey National Guard, informs the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice that "when the improvements in course of construction at Sea Girt are completed we will have 50 targets at 300 yards, 40 at 200 yards, 40 at 500 yards, 42 at 600 yards, 40 at 800 yards, 40 at 1,000 yards, 40 at 900 and 40 at 1,000.
25 revolver targets and 24 groups of skirmish targets, a total number of firing points of 367. This is the largest equipped range probably in the world, except the famous Bisley range in England." It is no wonder that the marksmen of the country, the few it possesses, should be looking forward with pleasurable anticipation to the match next September at Sea Girt.
The matches of the National Rifle association, which co-ordinates in every way with the National Board, will be held at the same time.An important change from the program of last year has been made by the National Board for the Promotion of Rifle Practice. Last year the national individual match was shot first, that the marksmen might have the benefit of the practice before shooting on the teams in the national match. There were so many entries for the individual match, over 500, that considerable time was consumed and team captains fretted some over the delay. This year the national match will be shot first so that the members of the teams can then be free either to remain for the individual match or return home. It may be said that plans are in process of being perfected, which, if they can be carried out, promise to make the coming national individual match the greatest ever shot in this country.
While the details cannot yet be announced, it may be said that it is probable the cash prizes provided by the national government will be supplemented handsomely by others from the friends of rifle practice.At Guantanamo, Cuba, the navy department is putting the finishing touches on one of the finest rifle ranges in the world.In some respects this range surpasses the famous English range at Bisley, where there are 230 targets.
While the English have a much larger number of targets in commission, the ranges are so planned at Guantanamo that fully 2,000 men can shoot in a day, and they may be accommodated at 1,000 yards. On one firing line there are 170 targets which will enable 340 men to shoot at once, and these ranges are so planned that the distance can be increased from 200 to 800 or 1,000 yards without the slightest trouble. Deer Point extends out just to the westward of the range and there is a very high bank the full limit of the point. To the eastward there is another high hill, and the valley between gives the entrance to a fan-shaped series of valleys which have been turned into a giant target range.Some distance back of the shore there is a high hill, and on top of this is a water supply sufficient to furnish drinking water to the entire range.
A thorough system of pipes has been laid to every point. On a line with the waterworks, and some distance to the east, is the main rest house, and to the westward of this house are 110 ranges, and to the eastward sixty.
Still farther to the east are the ranges for the field guns, 1,000 yards in distance.At the base of the cliff, which extends out and makes Deer Point, there is a series of fifteen targets at 600 yards and farther back are five targets at 1,000 yards. The men shooting at the 600-yard range take their stand at the base of the cliff, while the men firing at long range have a firing line on the top of the cliff, which allows them to shoot at the same time as the men practicing on the shorter range. From the main rest house there is a deep trench, extending out to the line of sixty targets and across the butts of the 110targets. This trench also extends across to the butts of the 600-yard range and makes a curve which carries the officers on duty around to the butts of the 1,000-yard ranges. It is thus possible for an inspector to visit every butt in the range during the firing without interrupting the practice. In this respect the Guantanamo range surpassed any in the world.The construction of this target range, the first ever built for the navy department, was authorized by the rifle practice department, which is under the direction of Lieutenant Randley McLean.Three landings have been built for the crews of the ships, and the range is so close to the water's edge that it is possible for a crew to land and start in to practice within fifteen minutes. Over at the main rest house there is a wireless station where messages to and from the ships in the bay can be received and sent.The range, to all purposes, has been completed, but it will take about $25,000 additional appropriation to finish the parking of the grounds, filling in the low places and completing the work of beautifying the place."THE FOUR HARRISES" SCORED A BIG HITAt the West Side Theatre—Ogretta Arnold and Charles Howison Also Very Pleading.Surprising agility and grace, originality in the execution of difficult "breakdowns," shuffles and clogs, and excellent taste in the choice of costumes and the accompanying songs combined to make the "Wooden Shoe Dancers" instant favorites with the large audiences at the West Side theatre yesterday. The "Four Harrises" have an exceptionally fine act, as the frequent outbursts of applause in the midst of their whirlwind gyrations testify. Besides being nimble-footed and good singers they are fine looking young men. The two "little ones" are amply able to sustain their share of the performance.Ogretta Arnold possesses a pure, sweet, soprano voice and makes the best impression in her dainty Southern costume, and the melody of old, familiar tunes.Charles Howison, billed as a "bird warbler" and "imitator," more than equals the liveliest expectations. His voice is unique and very pleasing in deed.George Hatch's illustrated songs continue to delight the work of King & Stange is acceptable; and the motion pictures presenting "The Hen that Laid the Golden Egg"—it was a goose in the fable, wasn't it?—are very interesting.

...FORTY YEARS AGO...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Friday, May 4.—Mr. Plato's condition.—Runners were about yesterday to the effect that Mr. Plato was not likely to live. We are reliably informed that his case is not considered a serious one unless there should be some unfavorable turn in his symptoms. He is not as well today, having rested poorly last night.

Attempted Burglary.—An attempt at burglary was made last night by wrenching off the iron fastening which secured the bar across a door in the basement of Jackson and Smith's building, directly under Sutherland's store. What the purpose of the rascals was is not apparent, though it is presumed that they did not propose to carry off a stock of paper. They may have intended to get a suit of clothes or survey the Bank premises. It has not been discovered that the rogues got anything for their trouble.

Devilish.—Some miserable scoundrel placed an iron rail across the track of the Milwaukee & Prairie du Chien and the C. & N. W. Railway just above the upper bridge Wednesday night, with the evident intention of throwing the trains down the embankment. When the train on the engine threw the rail off their track, and the employees on that train discovered the rail on the other track and removed it. Hanging would be mild punishment for the cowardly assassin who could do such a deed.

What Shall Be Done.—It must be manifest to anyone at all observant that our city is at present infested by a gang of thieves and rogues. Every night or two, some rascally fellow perpetrates, and no citizen can tell what a night may bring forth for him.

Our police force—well, there is not enough of it worth speaking about—consists of four constables, one of whom is already placed "hors de combat." The community is placed entirely at the mercy of the rogues here congregated. The question then arises, what is to be done on the premises? We do not precisely know, but from intimations we hear we suspect that is a plan is on foot among the business men to reach the case by a short and decisive way not laid down in Blackstone. It will come to that we are sure unless the town is soon rid of these scallawags.

COMING ATTRACTIONS

Moving Pictures De Luxe.

Our generation has witnessed some wonderful achievements in almost every known art and science. Possibly the most wonderful, and certainly the most fascinating is the moving picture, as will be presented by the Lyman H. Howe Company in Janesville next Tuesday.

It is of course so recent as to be so startling now as it was at its inception. In fact the many incompetent and unskilled exhibitors have found the mechanism and electrical issues such a complex problem, that the exhibitions have been uniformly unsatisfactory, and have indeed prejudiced some amusement patrons to this exceedingly fine form of entertainment. But that does not alter the central fact, that the moving picture as presented by Mr. Howe has come to stay; that it has become as fixed a form of education and fascination as music or oratory. It must be recognized as permanent, that while this old world of ours retains interest, the moving picture which depicts life itself with a fidelity hitherto unimagined, will be of ever increasing and intensifying interest.

Mr. Howe's exhibition of moving pictures is science wedded to art; and an art while distinct from music and oratory, that appeal only to the eye and penetrate that "window of the soul" with rays so piercing as to render the portrayal indelible.

Letter to Mr. Wm. Morris, Janesville, Wisconsin.

Dear Sir: The cost of the paint needed for your house is more important than the price of it; you may pay more than usual for the paint and still have it cost less than usual; but, of course, if you can get that kind of paint for less money than usual, the cost is that much less.

That's the case with Archie, a house-owner of Waterloo, Wis. He bought ten gallons of Devco Lead and Zinc Paint for his house. His painter, Sid Ghastin, said he would meet it; so did A. J. Humphrey, the druggist who sold the paint.

When the job was done—two coats—he had five gallons left. You can judge how surprised they were. Eight years before, the same house had one coat of lead and oil and took eight gallons. The cost of a thing isn't always in the price. Yours truly, F. W. DEVCO & CO.

A store cannot convince its patrons that it is prospering by reducing its advertising appropriation—not more than your neighbor can convince you that he has moved into a smaller house because he is making so much more money than usual.

Now for the band concerts in the court house park.

Chicago has a city hall that promises soon to be a ruin.

Davidson is now finding out just who his friends are and just who are not.

Carter Harrison of Chicago showed his friend Dunne that he was not a dead one just yet.

New York has a fine set of insurance laws now and the next thing is to see they are enforced.

Spooner appears to have made more of an impression on the Senate than did Bailey of Texas.

This coal strike may be left locally before long. Then Rome will howl when factories shut down.

Paris cares more about the results than she does about the ways and means of putting down a revolt.

Congress might make an appropriation for Roosevelt's railway fares so as to save the executive dignity.

Sebastopol, Russia, would not seem like home to some of its citizens if the weekly revolutions were stopped.

Commissioner Garfield's report has been handed in but as yet the Standard Oil people are putting on a bold front.

King Edward fell down and laughed heartily. The rest of the party only smiled. What a difference royalty makes.

Candidates for county offices are not lively as yet but it is to be supposed that aspirants will appear shortly seeking honors.

When the people, the taxpayers, fully understand the situation as to the needs of the new fire engine house they will not object to the expenditure of the money necessary.

There are some surprises in store for some of the candidates for office this fall when they encounter the primary law and its requirements for the first time.

New sidewalks appear to be the slogan that the aldermen are taking up and the slogan pleases everyone but the property owners who have to build.

The street department is cleaning up the city thoroughfares in a good systematic manner and they should be encouraged by every property owner, cleaning his own yard and gutters.

Lenroot has made out a nice ticket for himself and the next thing is to have the ticket selected as the republican standard. In this matter Governor "Jim" may have something important to say on the subject.

So Mr. Stuart did not know that once being badly defeated for congress constituted a membership to the "Down and Out Club" and wants to try the sensation of having the engine pass over him again.

They tell the story of the Janesville automobilist who cried "whoa" to his automobile when it backed with him when he touched the wrong pedals. It happened near the city hospital and can be vouched for.

Suppose Janesville had a room where emergency cases could be taken until they received proper attention. Would it not be a nice thing? The proposed fire station would have such a room.

ROOSEVELT'S IDEAS.

Much has been written by anti-administration papers of the refusal of President Roosevelt to accept foreign contributions for the benefit of the San Francisco sufferers. In his message to congress given yesterday the President allays all his talk by plainly stating that he did not feel that he had the right to accept money from individuals or foreign powers in his capacity as president of the United States but that contributions made to private individuals or to the relief associations he had nothing to say about. His position was clearly defined and the stand he took will be appreciated by his bitterest enemies.

TABAHA.

Usually the actions of the Sultan of Turkey are so erratic that the stock market pays no attention to his vagaries. However just at this time the exact meaning of the Sultan of Turkey's military demonstration on the borders of the Sinai Peninsula is not understood in London, and the matter is disturbing that market to an extent sufficient to call for a little notice. Egypt is tributary to the Sultan to the amount of $3,000,000 a year. So far as government is concerned, however, the Khedive is independent, and has both the power to make treaties and to raise armies.

Since 1840 the wedge-shaped patch of desert lying in the fork of the two gulfs of Suez and Akaba, bounded on the northwest by the Suez Canal, has been, at least for administrative purposes, an integral part of Egypt. The old pilgrim trail to Mecca ran through it. The peninsula should have something more than an academic interest for Wall street as the place of origin of the ten commandments. In the recent past the Sultan has revived claims for the occupation of part of this territory, massing troops where it borders on Palestine, and some of them at Tabaha, which is well within the debatable ground.

It will be time enough to accuse the German Emperor of stirring up trouble when evidence of it develops. It is a mistake to assume that the Sultan will not make mischief without such backing. He is never greatly troubled with scruples, and an attempt to hold up the British government for something tangible, like an increase in the Turkish tribute, would be quite a sufficient reason for a sovereign with very little to lose.

Britain is the greatest Mohammedan power in the world, but the Sultan is recognized as the official and spiritual head of the Mussulman faith. The British position, therefore, is delicate, a fact of which the Sultan is well aware. What disturbs the London market at present is not anything the Turks may do, for if the worst came to the worst the Sultan would not risk the withdrawal of the present Egyptian tribute; but the question whether anybody is backing the Sultan. If the Tabaha incident is merely a "strike," the market will forget it in a day. In spite of alarmist stories, there is yet no evidence to show that it is anything more.

PRESS COMMENT.

Somebody Reads It.

Milwaukee Sentinel: However, railway rate literature is still carefully perused by the proof readers.

"Or I Sink!"

Milwaukee Journal: "Help me, Cassius!" will soon be Lenroot's appeal to Senator "Bob."

Ready For the Worst.

Oshkosh Northwestern: The situation in France seems critical indeed, and almost anything that happens there will cause no great amount of surprise.

Unpatriotic to Say So, Though.

Chicago Tribune: Even in the north there is a feeling that "Marching Through Georgia" has been slightly overworked.

Know the Uncivil Sort.

Milwaukee Journal: Oh, but it hurts! The game wardens doubt the legality of the civil service law. They only understand uncivil service.

Incident is Therefore Closed.

Chicago Tribune: Besides, Gov. Hoch asserts in the most positive manner that the kissing incident has been greatly exaggerated, and the lady herself concedes that she strongly objected.

Sadly Beset.

Madison Democrat: Mr. Bryan made an hour's speech in Jerusalem the same day that Senator a Follette spoke in the upper house. The suffering world is being attacked in many places.

Boosting Beet Culture.

Racine Journal: Although over 300,000 acres of sugar beets were raised last year, the yield is but a drop in the bucket compared to the amount of sugar consumed in this country. There is plenty of opportunity to plant millions of acres.

'Twould, For a Fact.

Madison Journal: Janesville has both a republican and a democratic aspirant for congress, and the Gazette thinks between the two the "plum" ought to be landed for the Bower city. If only other impertinent candidates would keep out, how nice.

No Bother at All.

Green Bay Gazette: Senator La Follette is being continually reminded by his "friends, the enemy," that the senate is a graveyard of presidential ambitions. But then, La Follette never did care much for precedents, except for opportunities to break them.

Another New Breakfast Food.

Chicago Record-Herald: A Norwegian scientist has discovered that moss, when properly cleaned, makes a delightful and nutritious food. Two cents' worth of it will make a meal and the scientist thinks it is destined to become the popular food of the masses. Look out for the moss trust.

Nitrogen From the Atmosphere. Technical World: If the announcement recently made from Norway is substantiated—namely, that in that country a method of extracting nitrogen from the atmosphere by mechanical and chemical means and utilizing it for the manufacture of nitrate fertilizers—it will certainly herald a revolution in agriculture, since it will mean unlimited quantities of fertilizing material at low cost. The next important advance will be the devising of a method of using water for fuel—that is, of course, decomposing it and applying the oxygen, which forms eight-ninths of its weight, to assist in the processes of combustion.

THROES OF DELIRIUM

One is at the City Lock-up and the Other is at the County Jail.

After singing and talking to his mother and sister all night, apologizing for the jail cell in which they seemed to find him, William Carlson was somewhat quieter this morning and was able to break his long fast by drinking three cups of coffee and eating some bread. He is still in the clutches of the delirium, however, and throughout the day could be heard calling for whiskey and singing all over the city hall. Jack Holman, who was sent to the county jail yesterday for a short term, is afflicted with a similar malady. It was or, more accurately stated in yesterday's issue that Carlson took care of the Eagles' club rooms. His work was in a saloon until he lost his position some weeks ago.

STUDENTS VISIT THE LIBRARY IN CLASSES

Halvor Skavlem's Collection of Birds Enjoyed by High School Students.

Usual Arbor Day programs were carried out in all the grade schools this morning, with the customary planting of trees and flowers to beautify the grounds, which has been the custom in the past years. This year there has been much interest taken in the study of birds, their life and habits. Instead of one Arbor Day "annual" this year there was published by the state two books in place of the one—one on Arbor Day, the other about our feathered friends. This morning the four high school classes and teachers went to the Carnegie library to see the wonderful collection of birds which is being exhibited there this week by Mr. Skavlem. Mr. Skavlem is assisted in describing the birds and their habits by members of the bird class of the high school. This class is the continuation of the last year's sophomore class which studied Burroughs' Birds, and Bees, and not wishing to stop the useful study with the finishing of the book, have this year formed the "useful study class." Those who are assisting Mr. Skavlem are Leonal Burgess, Walter Caemmerer, William Spohn and Harry Fitch, they having made the birds a study in their native haunts. In allowing the pupils of the schools to enjoy his collection Mr. Skavlem has inspired new thoughts and new ideas. Many citizens have also availed themselves of the opportunity of viewing the collection and upon earnest request of many Mr. Skavlem will allow them to remain in the library for a week or ten days longer. Some enthusiasts have suggested that possibly Mr. Skavlem might be induced to leave part of the collection in the library permanently and thus form a nucleus for a historical collection that would in time become most interesting.

NO ADMISSION OF GUILT BY LEASER

Man Arrested by Detective Burns in Chicago Wednesday Night Will Appear in Court Tomorrow.

R. T. Leaser, charged with passing a forged check for $39.50 purporting to have been drawn by Rev. R. C. Denison, was brought here from Chicago last night and lodged in the county jail. While he does not deny that he cashed the check he does not admit, on the other hand, that he was the maker of it. According to his story he had been a heavy loser in a game of poker, in which several prominent citizens of Janesville were participants, and, cashed the check in order to get another start at the gaming table and make a desperate effort to win back some of the money he had lost. The $39.50 went the way the other shelds had gone. Leaser estimates that the saloons and gambling places here relieved him of about $400 during his seven weeks' sojourn in Janesville. Upon leaving this city Sunday night he went to Chicago and directly to his home, upon reaching that city. It is surmised that someone from here sent him a message, warning him that the question of pursuing him had been taken under advisement at the sheriff's office. At any rate he moved his household effects to 243 Indiana avenue, where he was located by Detective Burns, after some little difficulty. Wednesday night, and arrested by the same officer. The man's wife was greatly shocked by the nature of the charge preferred and could not be persuaded that it was not all a terrible mistake. He will probably be brought into municipal court tomorrow morning. Sympathy for Leaser is expressed by a considerable number of local men and there is some talk of taking up a collection to secure the best legal talent obtainable to defend him.

ROYAL NEIGHBORS VS. VICTORIA POTTER

Bring Action of Replevin Against Deposed Secretary to Recover Books.

After having deposed Mrs. Victoria Potter as recording secretary of Crystal Camp No. 132 of the Royal Neighbors of America for alleged neglect of duty and failure to perform the necessary work, and elected a successor, the board of lady managers waited on the former officer and demanded the books and documents. Their demand was not complied with. Mrs. Potter refusing to surrender the lodge property until she had consulted the supreme oracle. Whereupon the services of an attorney were secured and a replevin action to recover the property was commenced. The books and manuscripts are now in the custody of Justice Reeder and will remain there until a decision is forthcoming in the legal action of the R. N. vs. Victoria Potter, which is set for trial in Justice Reeder's court tomorrow afternoon at two o'clock. Mrs. Potter was ill at the time the alleged neglect of duty occurred, but it is charged that she refused to allow anyone else to do the work in her stead. The complaining lady managers are Mesdames Ida Haskins and Flora Skinner.

BRIEF NEWS FROM OLD ROCK

EASY VICTORY FOR COLLEGE OF MILTON

Overwhelmingly Defeated Whitewater Normal on Baseball Diamond Wednesday.

Milton, May 4.—The college ball team played their first game of the season Wednesday afternoon with the Whitewater Normal nine. The weather was too chilly for fine points in the game, but a fair sized crowd was in attendance. The home team outclassed the visitors so badly that the contest was devoid of interest. The Normals scored once in the first inning, but never crossed the plate after that. The college lads piled up seventeen runs prior to the fourth inning and despite the fact that Captain Johnson ordered his men not to score again two persisted in doing so, making the total nineteen to one. The Normal pitcher with good support could make a much better showing. The college put up a good article of ball for an early season game, but their errors gave the visitors their only score. Pitcher Place was in good trim and had the Normal batsmen at his mercy. The Milton lineup was as follows: Pitcher, Place; catcher, Robinson; 1b., Potter; 2b., Freeman; 3b., Hurley; ss., McRae; 4b., McGowan; cf., Johnson; rf., Hull; umpire, Whitford. D. C. E. Perry, B. H. CONGRESS NOW HAS THE FACTS the general public as against the power of the great corporations." He favors, as an element of competition, putting alcohol used in the arts on the free list and of keeping the fee to oil and coal lands of the Indian tribes or on the public domain in the government, the lands to be leased only on such terms and for such periods as will enable the government to entirely control them.

The Report
In summarizing his report Commissioner Garfield speaks of his personal visit to the oil fields and of the great mass of data obtained by him either personally or through agents of the Bureau of Corporations. The preliminary study of this material, he says, showed that the most important subject was transportation, which enters so largely into the cost of the finished product and hence a most important factor in competition.

Taking up the subject of the output of refined oil, Mr. Garfield finds that it amounts to about 26,000,000 barrels annually, of which the Standard Oil company directly and indirectly controls about 23,500,000, and approximately the same proportion of the other finished products of petroleum.

Continuing the report says: "The Standard claims that the location of its refineries and the use of pipe lines are natural advantages to which it is justly entitled by reason of the energy and foresight of its managers. While in a measure that is true, it must not be forgotten that these advantages were in part obtained by means of unfair competitive methods after years of fierce industrial strife."

"The development of the pipe line system by the Standard Oil company was the result of special agreements with railroad companies. Furthermore, those so-called natural advantages have been and are being greatly increased by discriminations in freight rates, both published and secret, interstate and state, which give the Standard monopolistic control in the greater portion of the country, and which so limit competition as to practically prevent the extension of the business of any independent to a point which even remotely endangers the supremacy of the Standard."

"An immediate result of this limitation of the competitive area is shown by the prices of ordinary illuminating oil throughout the country. After deducting the freight rate the price of such oil is usually from two cents to five cents a gallon higher in the non-competitive than in the competitive fields. A reasonable profit on refined oil is about one-half a cent per gallon. It is clear that exorbitant profits are obtained in the non-competitive fields. This monopolistic control extends from the well of the producer to the doorstep of the consumer."

Mr. Garfield cites the fact that the New York Central railroad company was the only one which refused for itself and affiliated lines to give access to records of state rates.

At the beginning of the investigation, he says, the Standard Oil company denied that it had obtained in recent years, or was now obtaining any rebate or other transportation discrimination against its competitors, and yet he says that a most careful review of the facts and the explanations leads to the conclusion that the Standard Oil company has habitually received from the railroads, and is now receiving secret rates and other unjust and illegal discriminations.

In 1904 those secret rates saved to the Standard Oil company three-quarters of a million dollars, representing the difference between the open rates and the rates actually paid. "These discriminations," he says, "have been so long continued, so secret, so ingeniously applied to new conditions of trade, and so large in amount as to make it certain that they were due to concerted action by the Standard Oil company and the railroads." He says further that the Standard Oil company is receiving unjust discriminations in the matter of open rates, the published rates from the leading Standard shipping points being relatively much lower than rates from the shipping points of its competitors.

Mr. Garfield then refers to seven instances of important discriminations in favor of the Standard Oil company in various parts of the country, and says that most of the secret rates and some of the open discriminations discovered by the bureau were abolished by the railroads shortly after such discovery. After calling attention to the good which already has resulted from the investigation, Mr. Garfield says that the changes effected have put the independent competition possible in territories heretofore inaccessible. The report concludes as follows:

"Nevertheless, the widespread discriminations in open rates still in force leave the independents at serious disadvantage. The investigation has only incidentally touched state shipments from distributing centers, particularly in less than carloads. The few instances examined suggest the probability of discriminations on such shipments which, taken in connection with through traffic, may result in discriminations on interstate business."

"I have cited these particular instances to show the various methods by which discriminations are obtained, and to call particular attention to methods which, if legal, are mere devices to obtain exactly the same result as would be obtained by rebates paid on interstate business. Any freight discrimination, whether it be state or interstate, tends to give control of markets to the preferred shipper, and makes monopoly possible. If existing law merely prohibits a special device for obtaining discrimination, and permits the same result to be accomplished in a different way, then the legislation is to that extent a sham."

"This investigation has shown very clearly one glaring defect in the interstate commerce law, viz.: the method of filing and publishing tariffs. Although a tariff or a rate has been filed with the commission in compliance with the terms of the law, none but the favored shipper may know of its existence. Tariffs may be made and rates may be combined in such manner as to make it practically impossible for the ordinary shipper to find them. As long as the state rates are not required to be made public, and shippers use such rates in combination with interstate rates, all manner of devices to evade the purpose of the law are possible. All state rates used in connection with interstate shipments should be filed with the Interstate Commerce commission, and a radical change should be made in the direction of simplifying tariffs and in methods of posting and filing them."

MALARIA AN INSIDIOUS FOE TO HEALTH

Malaria is an atmospheric poison which we unconsciously breathe into our lungs through the impure air arising from low, marshy places, stagnant ponds, damp cellars, sewer pipes, improperly ventilated houses, decaying vegetable matter, etc. Day after day these germs and poisons are taken into the lungs, and as the blood passes through them it becomes infected with the poison and in its circulation distributes the microbes of disease to all parts of the body. Malaria is a very insidious disease; it gives no warning of its coming until the circulation is filled with the poison, and this foe to health has the system at its mercy. The blood becomes polluted, thin and weak and its slow, irregular circulation fails to properly nourish and strengthen the body. Then the entire system is attacked, and if the germs and poisons of Malaria are allowed to remain the strongest constitution will break down. No one can feel well when the system is in a malarial condition; the vitality is weak, the appetite poor, digestion deranged, the complexion grows sallow and the entire body feels the effects of the poison. Malaria must be removed from the system through the circulation and the only medicine that can accomplish this is S. S. S. It not only cleanses the blood of all unhealthy, morbid matter, but destroys the germs, cures Malaria and restores this vital fluid to a strong, healthy condition. S. S. S. is made of roots, herbs and barks combining purifying and tonic properties which keep the blood free of all poisons, and the system in perfect condition. While destroying the germs of Malaria and building up the weak, polluted blood S. S. S. gives tone and vigor to the entire system. Book on the blood and any medical advice without charge.

FISHERMEN SEEKING COMPLIANCE OF LAW

Fish Runways Would Greatly Benefit The Local Fisherman In Their Sport.

There are fully a hundred people in this city, who spend hours fishing in Rock River at different times, whose only reward is a few bass and other small fish. There is no reason why there should not be good fishing here in the river, if the fish regulations were carried out in this state and complied with as elsewhere. The fish laws in Wisconsin provides for a run-way in each and every dam, so the fish may not be confined to certain localities. These laws are not thoroughly complied with and it is impossible for fish to pass either of the two dams in our city. About twenty years ago the run-ways in the dams in Rock River were in good condition and as a result, there was some very excellent fishing in this locality, but now that of the lower dam is stopped up by twigs and mud and the one in the upper dam has long been impassable. It is not altogether the fault of our own dams that there is no fishing in the upper part of Rock River. The main fault lies in the dam at Rockton. Here no effort has been made what so ever to make a passage for fish. Rockford has just completed a fourteen hundred dollar run-way in that city and the people interested are doing a great deal to help the matter along. There is no good reason why the fishermen of Janesville should not enjoy the good sport enjoyed by the people living the Sugar and Ponotonia Rivers. A few miles below Janesville at the junction of these two rivers some of the best fishing in this region is to be had. There are a number of old time fishermen in the city who spend a few hours a day on the bank of the river with pole and line merely to pass the time and get what pleasure they can derive from a few small catches. These men are more than anxious that the fish and game laws of Wisconsin shall be carried out. The Fish Commissioners of Illinois are doing all that is in their power to help this matter along and are spending the money taken in from the licenses to purchase fish which are being put in the outlets of Rock River. The people living along the river banks in this city should also look into the matter and see if something could not be done to regain the old time fishing that once existed in this useful river.

STRING OF 13 PIKE; ELEVEN UNDERSIZED

First Janesville Fisherman Disowned Them, But the Second Made a Bad "Break."

There were thirteen pike in the string seized by Game-Warden Drafi at Indian Ford a week ago Thursday and of the number eleven were undersized—most of them weighing not much over seven ounces. The law fixes one pound as the limit. When the warden came upon one of the Janesville fishermen with the string in his keeping, ownership was promptly disclaimed. The warden put a confiscated tag on them and waited patiently. Presently another hove in sight and as he caught sight of the tag shouted: "Who's been fooling with our fish?" After that give-away further denials seemed useless. Warden Drafi was in town today. He was very mysterious and uncommunicative about the identity of the parties, though he hastened to add that he was going to have them in court a week from Monday. "They were good fellows and had asked that the matter be kept quiet." The warden did not deny that the names of two of the offenders are W. R. Williams and F. J. Kane.

A jury in the La Crosse circuit court decided a tooth was worth $100. Herman Peters of the town of Campbell lost a tooth in a fight with Henry Schroeder of the same town and brought suit for damages for the loss of the tooth. The jury returned a verdict of $100 for the plaintiff.
